DUFFERS GALORE is the situation as sophomore counselor Frank Maggio welcomes two new frosh last Sunday. Doug Merker (l.) and Sheila Perry (c.) are both from Greater Cleveland.

Former Grid Star Gauntner Replaces Dean of Men Farrell

Former John Carroll football star, Timothy J. Gauntner, is the new Dean of Men, replacing Joseph Farrell. Farrell resigned in favor of a Dean of Men position at St. Joseph high school here in Cleveland.

Before his appointment to Carroll, Gauntner served with the Cleveland Catholic Counseling Center, advising and giving assistance to young adolescents, young adults and their parents. More recently he was associated with the Department of Community Development of the city of Cleveland where he trophy as the best local collegiate player.

The new JCU Dean of Men was then drafted by the Boston Patriots of the American Football League. He later played with the Boston team in the Continental League while at the same time attending Boston University, from which he received his Masters degree in Sociology in 1965.

Mr. Gauntner stressed that he does not want the Dean of Men's office to be equated with the discipline aspect of the University. He stated that he will be more interested as an advisor to the Student Union and as a consultant to the organizations.

His main concern though "is with the individual student, his questions and problems." The Dean of Men then added that if he could not personally resolve a student's difficulty, he would at least hope to act as a reference for the student to guide him in the proper direction.

Mr. Gauntner concluded by saying that in the three weeks he has been here, he "has been greatly impressed with the student government, and the real professionalism of the Judicial Board. I am looking forward to working with the Student Union, the student organizations, and the student body as a whole," he added.

MR. GAUNTNER

was in charge of a staff for development. A native Cleveland, Gauntner attended St. Ignatius and then went on to Carroll where he majored in Sociology. At Carroll he played defensive back for the football squad and was defensive captain of the undefeated 1962 team.

That same year he was awarded the Cleveland Touchdown Club

President's Message

TO THE CLASS OF 1973:

It is a privilege and pleasure for me to welcome you to John Carroll University. You will find a faculty and staff eager to help you take full advantage of the opportunity offered you at this university. You will also find excellent facilities at your disposal. The rest is up to you. It is of the utmost importance that you put forth the effort to grow in knowledge and wisdom and to deepen your sense of values and your recognition of your responsibility to others so that as a result of these important years at this university you may become a better person and more fully qualified to serve God and your fellow men.

—JOSEPH O. SCHELL, S.J.
University President

Orientation Weekend Peaks In Ice-Breaker, Duffer Fete

The venerable Grasselli Tower showed signs of aging last Sunday, Aug. 24, as 712 incoming Freshmen began their Orientation. Also, 162 women, over 22 per cent of the class, arrived, with 74 of them taking rooms in Murphy Hall, ended the once impregnable male domination of the Carroll campus.

Following upon the arduous orientation week schedule for the freshmen will be the annual "Ice-Breaker" mixer tonight in the gymnasium. Admission to the dance is free and will feature The Montage.

This morning initiated the Freshman Athletic Competition. The competition consists of a round of football games between various teams picked up at random from the dorm and commuter frosh. The program will last until noon today and will be taken up tomorrow at 9 a.m.

Tomorrow night will offer live campus entertainment in "Room 1" and a movie in Kulas Auditorium. On Sunday morning, the Very Rev. Joseph Schell, President of John Carroll, will offer Mass in Kulas Auditorium for all frosh and counselors. Another movie will be shown on Sunday night in Kulas auditorium.

A picnic at South Chagrin Reservation on Labor Day will conclude the week's activities. The traditional Duffer classic ball game between the counselors and the faculty will be held there at 1:00 p.m. Last year's game was won by the faculty 13-12.

Tom Rush In Concert

Tom Rush, famed folk singer extraordinaire, will appear at JCU Sept. 12.

Rush will perform in the Gym at 7:30. There will only be seating in the balconies and bleachers, while informal atmosphere will be provided to those who wish to sit on the Gym floor.

Tickets are $2.50, and $1.50 for Student Union Fee Card holders and their dates. They will be on sale in the Gym ticket office starting Sept. 3.

Rush has recorded several albums, while his recordings include Rockport Sunx, No Regrets, Urge for Going, and Circle Gang.

Another singing group will entertain along with Rush. As of presstime the group was not announced.

Sept. Opening Planned For Campus Rathskellar

As one of the more enterprising seniors put it, "The old pink barn, she ain't what she used to be," which is putting it mildly.

As upperclassmen wonder what happened, and freshmen wonder what it is, work progresses on converting the old business school into a Rathskellar, recreation, and chapel complex.

An interview with the general foreman, Mr. Joseph Frolo, revealed that the lower Rathskellar area should be completed by Sept. 5; and while we happily guzzle downstairs, work will go on above to finish the entire project by the first of October.

The renovation plans utilized the foundations, back wall, wood columns and trusses, ceiling and frame of the old building, which was an army surplus PX reassembled at John Carroll.

The job required some ingenuity, in such tasks as exposing the foundation without the building slipping; and much hard work, in doing things such as cutting doorways through the original thirty-inch concrete wall.

Commenting on the project, Mr. Frolo said that the result would be a building "equal to, if not better than, a completely new building."

Construction of the Rathskellar was delayed somewhat during the summer months. Over the July 4 weekend, a fierce storm wracked Cleveland and layed waist to much of the near west side. The east side was not as badly hit, yet the driving rains simply flooded into the new construction area.

The interior design of the Rathskellar will be finished within two weeks, Frolo related. Finalized details regarding entertainment, prices and admission policy are to be resolved shortly by the Student Union.

Student Union Initiates First Used Book Sale

Carroll students will get the chance to buy their books this fall at bargain prices.

The Student Union will host the first Book Exchange Wednesday, Sept. 3. Buying, selling and trading of used books will take place in the Gym balconies from 3 to 5 p.m. that afternoon.

Open to all classes, dormies, and commuters, the entire event is under the direction of the Student Union. The Union is merely providing the facilities, location and coordination.

Procedure of the sale will be on a strictly individual basis between students.

Gym balconies will be marked off in sixteen sections, each section designated by a sign of a department in the College of Arts and Sciences.

A student wishing to buy, sell or trade a history book, for example, would proceed to that section in the balcony marked History. Students would then look for prospective buyers of their particular history books in the designated area.

Once again, selling, trading or buying of books would be done on an individual basis between students. The Student Union will have change tables at each section to facilitate transactions.

If a student cannot sell his books or buy the ones he is in need of, 3 by 5 cards may be obtained from the change tables. On these cards, which would be posted for an indefinite time outside the Student Union office, students will list those books which they were not able to sell during the book exchange.

Taking part in manning the book exchange will be the Delta Alpha Theta, the University Club, and members of Circle K.

Information sheets regarding the procedure of the sale will be provided at the Gym entrances.

FIRST MURPHY COED Julie Haynes, the first coed to move into Murphy Hall, and the first coed in Carroll's history to live on campus, arrives last Sunday. Greeting her are Ann Leybourne, (l.) Women's Dorm Prefect, and her assistant Barb Mayer (r.).

JOHN CARROLL UNIVERSITY • UNIVERSITY HEIGHTS, OHIO 44118

Class of 1973

John Carroll University of the 1970's was christened this week. The Class of '73 will be the first of this University to spend their entire college years in the new decade.

With this in mind, the freshmen assume a unique role. They are the innovators of Carroll's immediate future.

The implications of such a position are formidable. From the uncertainties, doubts and fears of this first week of college, the freshmen will create the trends and progress in the next stage of Carroll's history.

It must be noted that the 1960's have also played a vital part in the progress of John Carroll. The freshmen cannot neglect the inroads and advancements of the past ten years; more importantly, though, the Class of '73 cannot neglect the means by which these strides were accomplished.

If today's freshmen were to question a member of the Carroll community who was present during the last ten years, he would find that the men and women of this university were characterized by two outstanding traits: integrity and responsibility.

The Class of '73 must maintain these qualities, while developing their own attributes, if their role in Carroll's progress is to be fruitful.

Another point which the present freshmen cannot forget is the voice of the student here at Carroll. University officials recognize this as a definite need for progress, and that improvement is attained not only by dollars and cents, but also personal contact and communication.

That practically all decision-making bodies at Carroll have student representatives either with voting power or in an advisory capacity is testimony to the value of student opinion. Yet none of this would have occurred if Carroll students had not founded their efforts on integrity and responsibility.

On a nationwide scale, student involvement and movement for change in University life highlighted the 1960's. More often than not, the communications media stressed the use of force and violence by students in seeking change.

What all should bear in mind is that violence provoked change but not necessarily progress. The use of force may achieve immediate goals; but force and violence are never creative. The basis of such tactics is destruction, not only of buildings and offices, but also the integrity, stability and responsibility of the employers of such violence.

The Columbias and Harvards may receive the largest publicity regarding the means of change on their campuses. Yet the true essence of change, with progress, is typified by integrity and responsibility. These are the very qualities which have brought about change and progress here at Carroll.

Since the freshmen are the innovators of Carroll's immediate future, they must seek their own creativeness as applicable to the 1970's. But the basis by which Carroll students of the 1960's achieved change, progress, and improvement cannot be negated.

To the freshmen, the challenges of their role in this University are tremendous.

They should be met with firmness and belief in native talents, but always guided by those elements which have typified Carroll's progress so well in its past.

Union Welcome

TO THE CLASS OF 1973,

Now that you have become a part of John Carroll, let me wish you continued success in your college career. You will find these next four years the most beneficial and rewarding of your life.

By becoming a college student, you have accepted a truly great challenge—to realize who you really are. Robert Louis Stevenson once said, "To become what we are capable of becoming is the only end in life."

Certainly your college days are a most important step in this process. And so I wish you good luck in this, your newest venture.

Student Union President
JAMES W. LAURES

Truth, Reality Of College

Joseph Sopko

(Ed. note: Mr. Sopko is a senior pre-med student in biology. He has been with The News for a year and a half. Joe also fills in as a special assignment reporter.)

For the first issue I had planned on starting off in the humorous vein. But I've again seen this summer something that I've come to believe in over my years at John Carroll.

And I wanted to tell you about it now, in the beginning of your college careers, before everything becomes blurred in the furor of your first semester.

Having just graduated from high school you are probably very sure of what you believe; of your world view, of your values. You possess the truth; after all that's what you learned in your parochial, Catholic education. And perhaps you expect that all the university will do is more firmly convince you of the truth you already possess.

However, at the university you will be exposed to people whose life style and life view differs from your own. Further, these people will be spouting ideas foreign, and hence inimical to yours.

There's no reason to feel ashamed about this. The normal human reaction to anything different is hostility. Where the culpability enters is your reaction to these influences.

And here we see the beauty of John Carroll. At other universities you have very little choice. There whatever, but as for your education and intellectual growth; it will have stopped.

The other option is to listen to what those around you are saying to you.

Realize that truth is multifaceted and every man sees it somewhat differently but yet still validly.

Don't be a literalist. Don't help trap people in their sometimes unfortunate choice of words but rather try to understand and help them to say what they really mean. And I am sure you will do this if you are really interested in communicating and not just in playing word games. And if you do you will realize that just because another says it differently than you or even seems to be in opposition it doesn't really indicate disagreement.

In return you will be amply rewarded. You will discover that truth is really one, that men of good will are not really that separated. You will learn to communicate, and perhaps above all, you will be taking that first step that makes education possible—being open.

New Dept. Heads

New chairmen have been approved for five academic departments of John Carroll by the administration.

Announced by Father Thomas P. dent, was Associate Professor James A. Walsh who will now head the Dept. of Chemistry. The new chairman of the Dept. of Economics is Professor Kenneth L. Parkhurst.

Other new department heads are: Asst. Professor Raymond A. LeGrand of the Education Dept., and Philosophy Dept. Chairman, Reverend John E. Dister, S.J.

Students wishing to file applications for Student Union Delegates or to receive further information on the reorganization of class representatives, please contact the Student Union Office by Sept. 16. Delegates Primary Election will be held on Sept. 22 and 23 while the final election will be on Mon., Sept. 29.

An inter-term sociology course at Cleveland State Mental will be open to Carroll students this semester break. Two introductory sessions will be held during the first semester, with class and practical study during the inter-term. Students will be required to work with a mental patient during the second semester. Those interested should contact Mr. Gerson in the Sociology Dept. by Sept. 15.

the pressure to become educated is so great, the atmosphere so charged, that you have no option but to succumb. And I don't intend this to be completely facetious. At schools where liberalism and intellectualism are visibly rampant one wonders if underneath the hair and in-clothes doesn't lurk that old pleasure-seeking, pain avoiding soul.

But John Carroll mirrors reality; here, when you are confronted with the new, the hostile, you have two options. One is to reject, to refuse to listen. What they say seems to contradict what I believe; hence it's wrong. In this case you will leave Carroll little better than when you entered.

Oh, you will have been trained, in say accounting, physics, or

The Vatican Empire

By WARREN WILLIAMS

(Ed. note: Mr. Williams is the newest member of CN columnists. He is a sophomore majoring in philosophy. At 25, Warren is pursuing his degree after four years as an interior designer.)

The Vatican is not only in the business of selling God, its total enterprise goes beyond God. This only sovereign state that never publishes a budget, the Vatican is furthermore the one organized Church that keeps its money affairs strictly to itself.

How rich is the Pope? Putting it another way, how much money does the Roman Catholic Church, the oldest and largest corporation in the world, possess?

The term 'vatican wealth' should not be confused with the so-called Church patrimony, which consists of churches, ancient buildings and art treasures. Of the art treasures, many are in the Vatican Museum. They include thousands of masterpieces — paintings, sculpture, tapestries, and maps — to which no dollar amount can be assigned.

Priceless indeed are such works of art as Michelangelo's Pieta in St. Peter's, the frescoes in the Sistine Chapel, and the paintings of Raphael in the Apostolic Palace. One could also mention the Church's invaluable collections of antiquities. Plus five hundred thousand aged volumes and 60 thousand manuscripts in the Vatican Library.

Because none of the treasures will ever be put on the market, it is folly even to hazard a guess as to the cumulative worth of these items. Conceivably, though, they could bring a billion dollars under an auctioneer's gavel.

Perhaps the most lucrative of the Vatican's direct sources of income is 'Peter's Pence,' which provides roughly $1.5 million each year, and is derived from contributions made in all parts of the world, wherever there are Roman Catholic churches and dioceses.

The accumulated money, then accompanies the bishops on their personal visit to the Pope. The bishops' payments are made by check, usually for U.S. dollars.

Of the thousands of persons who use the 400 rooms and suites in the Cavalieri Hilton each year, few are aware that the hotel is three-quarters owned by the Catholic Church, through the Societa Generale Immobiliare. The vatican's large interest in the hilltop hotel is operated by the Hilton Corporation.

In 1958, shortly before Italy took on the responsibility of hosting the Olympics in Rome, the Vatican owned more than 102 million square feet of property within Rome's city limits. These holdings made it the biggest land owner, apart from the government, in all Italy.

Priests now receive $529 a year from the Italian government; higher ranking clerics receive about $600 and over 30 thousand priests are currently on the Italian payroll. The late Cardinal Tardini revealed that the Vatican's annual payroll came to about $7.25 million.

It was not clear, however, whether this figure referred only to the payroll for Vatican City. Most likely it did, because veteran Vaticanologists are inclined to estimate the Pope's total expenses at somewhere close to $20 million a year.

This includes maintaining St. Peter's Basilica and its square, which alone runs to about $700 thousand a year, of keeping a fleet of sixty cars, of operating a powerful radio station, and of printing a newspaper six days of the week.

Unknown to most people, even regular listeners to the Vatican radio, is that during the early morning hours of each day, the office of the Vatican's Secretary of State, broadcasts messages, some of them in code, to priests, nuncios, Apostolic delegates and cardinals in all part of the world.

While the Vatican has remained secretive about its fiscal policy, it has never believed that the investment of Church money was either illegal, objectionable in principle, or contrary to good conscience.

The view of the Pope as a chairman of the board may shock some readers. But let us remember that the Vatican is a remarkable, centuries-old institution, and that when it comes to money, it is one that is fully in tune with the spirit of the times.

Radio Station WUJC Begins Broadcasting

The heavy side of the dial is the bright sound of local radio at Carroll. WUJC, 88.9 on the FM band is the first and foremost collegiate sound around.

It's all new, it's all groovy, and it's all Carroll's. Under the direction of Mike Dalfonzo, WUJC has been broadcasting all summer long. Dalfonzo has turned the typing room in Grasselli Tower into the swiftest brand of progressive and folk music.

All seniors who expect to graduate in May of 1970 are required to file degree applications by Sept. 15, in the office of the Dean of Arts and Sciences.

Programming begins daily at 3 p.m. and continues to 1 or 2 a.m. in the morning. On the weekends, WUJC is on the air 24 hours.

Program Director Ted Lewis also adds a lot of class to airtime hours. After spending two years at Ithaca College in New York, where he majored in radio and television, Lewis comes to Carroll with two years experience in broadcasting.

Over the summer months Dalfonzo has added much equipment and material to the station's facilities which are financed by the Student Union. A semi-pro electrician at heart, Mike practically put every nut, bolt and wire into WUJC's studio.

The future plans for the station include increasing its broadcasting power. Presently, the station operates on a limited output of 12.5 watts. In the near future, Dalfonzo related, the station will be working for a 100 watt output.

The next step in the station's future is highly unique for Cleveland area colleges. "We plan to install a closed-circuit AM wave length in the dorms," Dalfonzo said. "This includes piping out to the five local colleges."

WUJC took a long time in coming to Carroll, and its founding director, Milt Roney, graduated last spring before the station's completion.

After four years, a lot of toil, red tape and plenty of sweat, WUJC has at last become a reality.

The officers of the Student Union will visit the freshman dorms Thursday, Sept. 4. They will be available in Pacelli at 11:30 p.m. and Dolan at 12 midnight, and will answer any and all questions concerning Carroll and its Student Union.

MISS LEYBOURNE

Financial Aid Funds Slashed

Last year Ohio colleges received $9 million under the National Defense Student Loan program. For this year they requested $16 million.

The allotted amount for 1969-70 is only $4.5 million!

The situation looks just as bleak for John Carroll, says Lt. Col. George D. Ballentine, (USA ret), Director of Financial Aid.

Of the $1 million handled in aid by the Financial Aid Office, only $160 thousand comes from the University itself. Thus Carroll's financial aid, 85 per cent from the federal government, is very susceptible to a drastic cut on lending levels.

Almost 2,000 students at Carroll receive some sort of financial assistance yet with the decrease in government monies, many of those 2,000 can expect to be affected, Col. Ballentine related.

Carroll students can look forward, though, to a state instructional grant program which would allocate money to Ohio residents attending private colleges. This would coincide with an increase in Carroll's own scholarships through the Decade of Progress.

First Women's Prefect Named for Murphy Girls

By CHERYL ROMANKO

Getting the Freshman Girls to wear duffers is only one of many pleasant tasks for Miss Ann Leybourne, head women's residence hall prefect.

A recent graduate in Sociology of Loyola University of Chicago, Miss Leybourne is now responsible for the welfare of the 74 coed students, mainly freshmen, now occupying the first two floors of the west wing in Murphy Hall.

The pretty 22-year-old brunette, a native of Muskegon, Michigan, is working on her master's degree in education in college studies personnel. In addition to her 24 hour a day job as head prefect, she will assist Dean of Women, Mary K. Kirkhope in dealing with female students.

At Loyola, Miss Leybourne acted as a case worker for emotional problems and as resident assistant director of a girls' dormitory while an undergraduate. She describes the Carroll campus as "a breath of fresh air, a new atmosphere—very different from Chicago."

Along with her dormitory duties, the new prefect will be "trying to emphasize a closeness with all the girls in the school, not just those who live in the dorms."

Assisting Miss Leybourne is Barbara Mayer, a 21 year old Junior from Cleveland. After spending her freshman year at Marymount College in Washington, D.C., where she acted as a Hall Prefect in a dormitory, Miss Mayer transferred to John Carroll where she is now majoring in English as well as working for certification in teaching.

Colnel Piercy New JC PMS

Col. James Edmond Piercy is the new Professor of Military Science at John Carroll University. He arrives directly from Vietnam, where he served as the Commander of the United States Army Terminal Newport in Saigon.

Col. Piercy entered the military service in October of 1940 and served as a non commissioned officer until April of 1945. On April 27, 1946, he was commissioned a 2LT in Artillery.

During his ensuing career Col. Piercy served with and commanded several artillery and transportation units. His staff experience ranges from the battalion to a staff assignment with the office commander and Chief Pacific Command.

Cont. Educ. Lists Courses

A continuing education program ranging from Concepts of Data Processing to Film Art and Film Making; from Man in the Modern Corporation to Efficient Reading, will be presented this fall by the University College of Continuing Education at John Carroll.

A special fee structure will be continued by the University College. Certain courses are open to fully retired persons at one-half the prescribed fee, for married couples at one and one-half times the fee, and for college and university students at one-half the regular tuition.

Applications for enrollment in any course, or requests for information, may be made by writing to Director, University College of Continuing Education, John Carroll University, University Heights, Cleveland, Ohio 44118 or by calling 491-4316.

Gauzman Reports on Coeds' Grief As Curfews Are Slashed to 11:30

By HARRY GAUZMAN

"It is better to come in late and suffer the consequences than to come in early and just plain suffer." — Gauzman

One of the more unbelievable situations that has confronted us during this year's Orientation Week has been the publicizing of the curfew hours for the on-campus women.

Father Time (or Mother Time, as the case may be) has decreed that 11:30 p.m. is the bewitching hour for Carroll women. Even Cinderella had until midnight to get her jollies. The South Euclid police don't start checking the bushes of the Cleveland Metropolitan Park system until 1:00 a.m. In fact, guys will find that they can take out a Carroll coed, have her in by 11:30 p.m., then take out a different girl on an after-midnight date. (double indemnity?).

Most on-campus Carroll coeds will find that instead of a dinner-and-show date, they will be taken out for lunch and a matinee. In line with this, local theaters will offer a late-show for Carroll students which will begin at 6:45 p.m.

Such being the case, it is assured that no twenty-four Carroll coeds will be able to get together to write a sequel to Naked Stranger based upon personal experiences. All-night slumber parties might even become popular again among the coeds.

Obviously, the girls will have much time on their hands (and their legs, and their heads, and their lips, etc.). To further occupy their time, the Carroll News could sponsor a Leg-Hair-Growing Contest for coeds. Some dark Thursday at 7:00 p.m. in the News office, all contestants might assemble to shave their legs. After three weeks, the coed with the most hair on her legs will win the contest, the prize being a year's supply of Nair. It is suggested that contestants stock up on knee sox in order to keep the growth under wraps.

So you think this is a bad idea, huh? One cannot possibly tell what might be considered fun when one's social life supposedly ends at 11:30 p.m.

"Better to come in late . . ."

(Ed. note: Mr. Gauzman took a slow boat to Kowabunga, Africa after writing this article. Whether he returns or not will depend on if the coeds who read his article catch up with him.)

SUPER SLEUTH Harry Gauzman is not moving on campus. This is a picture of the infamous reporter slipping out of town after turning in this week's story. Not pictured are outraged coeds from Murphy Hall.

The Realm of Sports

Gridders Optimistic

Experience Key to Victory

"There's nothing like experience" could very well be the motto of the 1969 Blue Streaks football squad. This fall's team is manned by basically the same personnel as last year.

Carroll's entire defensive backfield returns intact while the offensive line and backfield are studied with veterans. Only the defensive line poses a major rebuilding job.

Offensively the end position is strong with the return of veterans John Boland, Joe Pokraka, and Ken Sophie. Boland was the team's top receiver in 1968 before suffering a broken arm midway through the season. Pokraka, an all-state player in high school, was the team's leading receiver for the season and Sophie was the top freshman receiver.

Bolstering the tackle spots will be veterans Gary Kelley, a converted guard, and Mark Matthews. Kelley's guard position is open and may be filled by senior Curtis Keaton who is returning after two seasons of ineligibility.

Returning at center is three-year veteran, Ron Masterson.

The offensive backfield will miss 1968 team captain Jim Chenet who graduated last spring, but there is a host of experienced talent ready to take his place.

Leading the running backs is fullback Jerry Mihalek, the President's Athletic Conference 100 and 220 yard dash champ two years ago. Running alongside Mihalek will be John Caulfield, who lettered at halfback last season, and Tim Andrassy. Andrassy, a regular last year, suffered a broken tailbone in the Ashland game, but it has mended well. John Pollard is also returning, but he has been plagued by injuries the last two years.

An interesting battle is developing to see who will call the signals for the Blue Streaks this fall. Two experienced quarterbacks Dan Brown, and Sam Morrocco, plus a pair of talented freshmen are battling for the position. Brown, an intelligent set-up type passer, has the inside track while Morrocco a fine rollout passer will be trying to take over the position.

The entire defensive backfield will be back, anchored by three-time unanimous All-PAC safety Ed Sandrick. Head Coach, Jerry Schweickert calls Sandrick "one of the finest defensive backs in the state of Ohio."

Joining Sandrick in the secondary are Paul Cummings and Kerry Volkmann. Kerry was the PAC 152 pound division wrestling champ two years ago. Up front are veteran linebackers Joe Blasko, Bill McGregor, and Joe Goch.

Ends Tony Ferris and Joel Solomon are the only returnees on the defensive line. Both were outstanding performers last season.

Coach Schweickert and his assistants Tony DeCarlo and Don Stupica are generally optimistic about the 1969 Blue Streaks. Their hopes revolve around "our fastest group of running backs in the last few years," and they expect a good, quick ball club.

FUNDAMENTALS are taking up most of time in the grid squad's early practices. Here the offense works on its formations and line spacing.

Cindermen Set Scoring Record, Carroll Takes First Track Title

Highlight of last spring's athletic season was the rise of the Blue Streak track squad to its first Presidents' Athletic Conference Championship on John Carroll's all-weather track.

Under the second year guidance of Head Coach Don Stupica, the spikers moved from the league cellar to a second place finish in 1968 and a first place last spring which gave Carroll the additional points needed to win the PAC All-sports trophy.

Setting a John Carroll scoring record, the Streaks rolled up a total of 125 points followed by Case, defending champs from the two previous years, 122, Thiel 95, Allegheny 77, Washington & Jefferson 38½, Adelbert 37, and Bethany 32½.

The meet was not won until the final event when Bethany's Jim St. Clair took first place in the pole vault in a driving rain. Carroll's Bernie Reinhart was already out of competition with a fifth place finish and had St. Clair missed, Case would have picked up five more points, enough to win the meet.

Overall, John Carroll runners took seven first places—440 yd. relay, shot put, 100 yd. dash, 880 yd. run, 440 yd. intermediate hurdles, 220 yd. dash, and the three-mile run.

The 440 yd. relay team of Ihor Ciszewycz, Chuck Grebenc, John Caulfield, and John Scheid won in a time of :43.5.

Tom Couvreur took a second in the long jump and Carroll added more points by taking three places in the mile run. George Donahue also took a second in the 120 yd. high hurdles.

Blue Streak Bob McCarty won the shot put with a toss of 47'1¾". Jim Platz placed fifth in the shot.

John Scheid was the only double winner, capturing the 100 yd. dash in :10.0 and the 220 yd. dash in :22.0. Scheid later competed in the NCAA college division track championships at Ashland College.

Dan Gillespie won the 880 yd. run for the second straight year in 1:57.9 while Joe Skevington finished a strong third.

Manager Wanted

Head Football Coach Jerry Schweickert is looking for a manager for the football team. Anyone interested should contact the Coach in his office in the gym or call 4416.

Ihor Ciszewycz retained his 440 yd. intermediate hurdles crown with a time of :56.4 as Mike Carthy finished fifth.

In the three mile run Carroll's Dave Bedell triumphed with a time of 15:30.2. Both Bedell's and Ciszewycz's times were good for PAC records.

Next year's PAC meet will once again be held on John Carroll's eight lane all-weather rubberized asphalt track. Dates for the annual tournament are May 8-9, 1970.

Golfers Continue PAC Reign; Win Third Consecutive Title

Athletic Director Herb Eisele's Blue Streak golf team proved itself to be one of Carroll's most successful varsity sports by winning its third straight Presidents' Athletic Conference Championship last spring.

The PAC Championship came only a week after the Streaks triumphed in the Cleveland College Championships for the third year in a row.

Led by Tom Plunkett's 79-73-152 the Streaks out shot their nearest foe by 12 strokes. Final standings for the match were: 1) JOHN CARROLL 620; 2) Thiel 632; 3) Allegheny 634; 4) Case 643; 5) Bethany 646; 6) Washington & Jefferson 651; 7) Adelbert 653.

Thiel led the pack after the first day's competition but Carroll came on strong in the final 18 holes to win the trophy. The match was held at Meadville Country Club in Meadville, Pa., Allegheny's home course.

Following close behind Plunkett for the Blue Streaks were: John Horvath, 78-77-155; Carl Tuke, 77-79-156; Greg Kaltenbach, 82-75-

157; and Bob Lombardo, 81-86-167. Plunkett was named to the All-PAC team.

Carroll Fight Songs

The Alma Mater
Sons of Carroll, gather near her
Let your joyful anthem ring
Sound your Mother's praise, revere her
Her fair name full proudly sing
Loyal ever, brave and true
We the sons of Carroll U
Pledge our love to Alma Mater
To the Gold and Blue
Pledge our love to Alma Mater
To the Gold and Blue

Onward, On, John Carroll
Onward, on, John Carroll
For we're here to see you win, win, Gold and Blue
Onward, on, John Carroll
On to greater goals and victories new
Onward, on, John Carroll
For our faith in you is boundless and true
Dear Alma Mater, we're all for you
And for the Gold and Blue.

Gridders Oppose Same Teams as Last Season

1969 shapes up as a re-run of last season, as far as the schedule for the John Carroll gridders is concerned. The Streaks will face the same opponents in the same order as in '68, with the sites of the games accounting for the only difference.

The gridders will open at home against Washington and Jefferson on Sept. 27. The Presidents also supplied opening game competition the last three years, with Carroll coming out on top in all three contests.

A week after the W & J clash the Streaks will hop over to University Circle to do battle with the Case Tech Rough Riders. Case has been the league cellar-dweller the last two years.

The following week's game may be the most important of the season if Carroll has any hopes of wearing the Presidents' Athletic Conference crown. In that game the Streaks will host Allegheny College's defending PAC champs. The Gators have almost their entire team returning, including unanimous All-PAC quarterback Mike Ganey.

The first independent game of the season will be against powerful Ashland College on Oct. 18.

After a clash at Western Reserve, the Streaks will travel to Bethany College to play the first of their only two non-Cleveland games. The Bisons are a perennial PAC football power.

The following week Findlay College brings its unique "no-huddle" offense to Wasmer field for a non-conference game. The Oilers won last year's game by the margin of two long field goals (40 and 45 yards).

For the season finale the Streaks will travel to Thiel College for what will probably turn out to be a very hard-fought contest. In last year's game, played at Wasmer Field, the Tomcats squeezed out a victory in the last 30 seconds.
